

Remembering 9/11
Through the Eyes of a Printmaker

Edited by Robert Viana

Remembering 9/11 Through the Eyes of a Printmaker

This book was put together to show how artist printmakers from all over the world might interpret the September 11, 2001 events and translate those impressions and feelings to paper. The world will never forget that tragic day and the horrific events that unfolded right before our eyes. This book is in memory of all those fallen friends and family.

VISIT US ON THE WEB AT
www.printmakers.info

Edited by Robert Viana
www.robertviana.com

ISBN 978-0-6151-5866-2

9 780615 158662

Remembering 9/11 Through the Eyes of a Printmaker

Gary Krüger

Germany

Cover Art Print 2nd Runner Up

I kept having flashbacks. Television and newspaper pictures buzzed through my head. I keep 9/11 in my mind when I see a pile of rubble, low-flying aircrafts or tower buildings. Inverted reflections, inverted thoughts. Inverted pictures in my photogravures, rows of windows in which memories and nightmares are reflected. The frame around the images: Wood and metal parts, shredded cardboard – symbols for the expanse of rubble. Pictures, which are etched on the memory.

NEWSIMPOSSIBILITYPICTURESTRUTH
PANICHORRORPAINANGRINESSCONF
USIONDESPERATENESSNIGHTMARES
HATE REVENGEFRUSTRATIONBITTER
NESSSHOCKCONDOLENCESORROWR
EFLECTIONINTELLECTANALYSISUNDE
RSTANDINGRESPONSIBILITIESUPPOR
TRECONSTRUCTIONUNFORGOTTEN

Artist: Gary Krüger

Title: "Reflection of Memories"

Medium: Photogravure, Chine-collé

Image Size: 11 ½ x 15 ½ in (29 x 39 cm)

Artist Website: www.gary-krueger.de